

VIRGINIA'S HARD TO COUNT COMMUNITIES

HOMELESS

HOMELESS POPULATION IN VIRGINIA

According to the U.S Department of Housing and Urban Development

 5,975
people

experience homelessness on any given day. <sup>(1)</sup>

In 2018

 18,577
students

experienced homelessness. <sup>(1)</sup>

WHAT ARE THE HARD TO COUNT CHARACTERISTICS OF PEOPLE EXPERIENCING HOMELESSNESS? <sup>(3)</sup>

Transitory Status

- People experiencing homelessness are often temporary members of a household, or lack any form of housing. <sup>(3)</sup>

Hard-To-Reach Localities

- In 2016, 68 percent of the homeless population was in emergency shelters, transitional housing programs, or safe havens. <sup>(3)</sup>
- In 2015, 31 percent lived on the street, in a car, or in an abandoned building. Furthermore, local ordinances that prohibit begging or sleeping in public force people experiencing homelessness into less conspicuous locations. <sup>(3)</sup>

Age

- Young children are traditionally very hard to count and about 22 percent of people experiencing homelessness are children. <sup>(3)</sup>

WHO IS AFFECTED BY HOMELESSNESS <sup>(2)</sup>

Veterans who have proudly served our country

Men and women suffering from severe mental or physical illness or chronic substance abuse

Those fleeing domestic violence and human trafficking

Returning Citizens from jail or prison

Youth who are LGBT, pregnant, or experiencing abuse

COUNTING HOMELESS POPULATION IN THE 2020 CENSUS <sup>(4)</sup>

- The primary operations for counting people experiencing homelessness in the 2020 Census are the Service-Based Enumeration (SBE) and Enumeration at Transitory Location (ETL). <sup>(4)</sup>
- SBE is a three-day operation from March 30 through April 1, 2020, that counts people experiencing homelessness at shelters, soup kitchens, regularly-scheduled mobile food vans, and targeted outdoor locations. <sup>(4)</sup>
- ETL operation counts people in transitory locations who do not have a stable home elsewhere such as hotels, motels, and campgrounds. <sup>(4)</sup>
